Due to extremely hot weather and lack of recent rainfall, our customers have been using much higher-than-usual amounts of water. Although increased use is typical for this time of year, recent activity is above typical, and we are beginning to see stresses on water supply. Nixa Utilities is asking residents to voluntarily curb excessive water use to avoid moving into a Stage I Water Emergency in which certain water conservation measures would become mandatory.

How can you help? An even/odd watering schedule is a great way to save our precious resource! You can also save money on your Nixa Utilities bill!

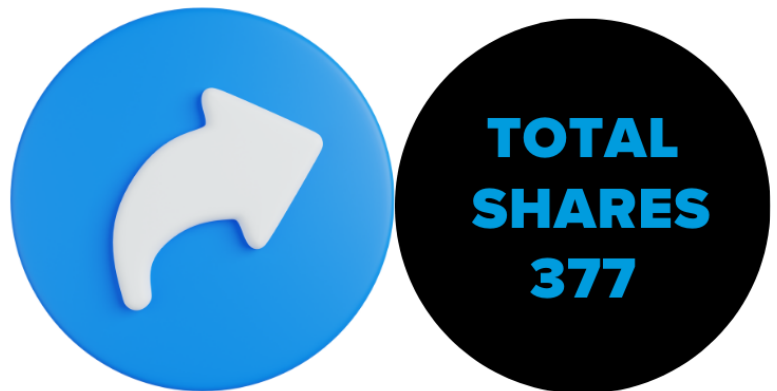

- If your house number is even, water on Wednesday, Friday and Sunday.
- If your house number is odd, water on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.
- No watering on Monday and no watering during or right after it rains.

Shoutout to our Utility team!

MPUA asked them to head to the Southeast to help restore power to those affected by Hurricane Helene, and they are happy to lend a helping hand.

City leaders decided we could help, so we sent a four-person team.

We are so proud of our lineman and everyone at Utilities for stepping up.

This week is Public Power Week, and we are celebrating our workers. 🙌

We have another team from Nixa Utilities headed to Florida to help out ahead of Hurricane Milton, as many are still without power from Hurricane Helene.

We appreciate your hard work, dedication, and willingness to help! ⚡🙏
